FRANKFORT—ITS ENVIRONMENT.

The present burying ground was a reconsidered afterthought by the promoters of the public health. Reinterment of those who had been "laid to rest," in the old cemetery, was also a question of supreme deliberation—"that spot" where he workhouse now stands," and when one is brought face to face with such sombre facts, the beauty and security of the present "God's acre" is assured.

There are many historic spots in this place of sepulchre. The old moss-covered headstones are alive with memories of the men and women who once shone supreme on the stage of action. Time would not permit of testimonials to each worthy, or each character, suffice it to say that a student of history might learn many lessons written in tablets of marble.

Overlooking the winding river; the new capital grounds; the majesty of hill and valley; the city below; one walks down the winding road and is brought through the entrance to the hospital of the King's Daughters. These busy consecrated women are living examples of what will can accomplish, and the beautiful, up-to-date, modern edifice is a home of refuge to many a fever stricken patient, not to say for the poor also, who are with us always.

Some where in this vicinity was once located the "Peach Tree Tavern," a place of much interest to the early settlers of Kentucky. There are many incidents connected with this tavern, and the peaches were celebrated for flavor and size. The old inn, first one built in Frankfort, was located near where the Arsenal now stands. It was designated "The Twin Tavern in sugar tree grove," La Cienck, Keeper.

The "F. M. I." is an institution of supreme importance; not alone from a standpoint of educational determination, but the psychic endeavor of medical therapeutics. Will the interest of such a work prove its significance to the people of Kentucky? Let the sequence demonstrate its value.

Climbing down Main street one comes "up to the Capital Hotel," mine host Weitzel, filling the important factotum as not many another man could do. This "old inn" is one of the features of Frankfort, and like the "L. & N." station is one of the dear, old friends of immortal youth. Going on down Main the streets present a modern status of progression; and the buildings are well worth the sight across time and travel. Up St. Clair, across the bridge, one is compelled to pause before the English-built dwelling of another century. The old house must be 150 years old, and presents a well-kept appearance of durability and care-taking; that the "short-stop" houses of quick erection fail to indicate. If we could turn back the pages of the past what wealth of research would confront us. What a mine of learning the children might dig up from the records lost to them by the carelessness of ancestors who cared but little about such things.

What an interest we might create by investigation—if we had the time! It was my pleasure to talk with a charming woman of a bygone age, a lady—Mrs. Elizabeth Vallandigham, widow of Dr. Augustine Woolfork Vallandigham, born in a log cabin in Frankfort, Ky., January 31, 1815. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Graham, married September, 1831. Her mother's maiden name was Sarah Bacon. Her father's mother's maiden name was Betsy Robinson, descendants of Irish blood, and the family came from Virginia in the early settlement of Kentucky. Her reminiscences were delightfully refreshing, told in the sweet, confiding manner, and the "manor born." If the children of the present day and time had to contend with half of the hardships of her early youth, there might be some excuse for tardiness and inefficiency of progress! Her first teacher's name was Thomas Hart. The name of the second was Smith, who taught upon the hill—Louisville pike—about the year 1824. The stepping stones up to Coleman's Tannery, near Elm Spring, were favorite rendezvous for the school children who were taught more than half of the year from house to house, by subscription, the teacher taking up the work as he would do "shoe making," or "clock fixing"—accepting pay in board, old clothes, skins of animals, or any other product exchangeable to suit the extremity of purse or condition. Her memory is excellent; recalling incidents and names in the lives of Dr. Lloyd, Judge Harlan, Secretary of State under Gov. Letcher, James E. Page, Thos. S. Page and others who once figured in the legislative and commercial emporium of Frankfort. She told of the first steamboat navigated on the Kentucky river, "Plowboy," of the rock house on Steele street, built by Dover, and of her own life filled with the quiet dignity of years. Alone, in the midst of citizens belonging to another century, left behind in the haste and energy of the present busy mart, she finds comfort and friends in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cox, South Side, her relatives, who will see that her declining days are filled with the peace of departure—when she shall have laid down this burden of years. The Jesse Coeks who was massacred in the battle of the river Raisin, was an uncle of this Joseph Cox—the name being changed in some manner by the members of the family who moved to Kentucky from Virginia.

A CREEPING DEATH.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at all druggists.

HEAVY PERSONAL AND FINANCIAL LOSS.

A Mr. H. S. Holcomb, of Cold Water, Michigan, came here Saturday with a friend, en route South. While here he lost his pocketbook containing $900, and thinks he lost it at or near the Capital Hotel. About the same time he had news that his daughter was dying, and left for home. The later news was that she had passed away before he reached her bedside.

GOOD ROADS.

Good roads are the best possible investment in any community. There is not an interest that is not benefitted by such improvements. It makes all sorts of farm products more accessible. Land located on good roads obviously becomes more valuable as residence property, for it may be more easily and pleasantly reached.

Considering the importance of good roads, it is of vital moment that object lessons in their building should be well taught. For this reason none but the most skillful engineers and the most conscientious contractors should be employed in building model roads. If the improvement proves good and permanent, it will soon convince the taxpayers that more such road is desirable, and development in that line will follow. Should the model road prove defective, it would be a serious setback to the cause.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Frankfort.

Most Frankfort people work every day in some strain of unusual position—bending constantly over desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fail to be in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Frankfort cures prove it.

C. A. Wallace, retired farmer, living at 381 Holmes Street, says: "I have thought that the kidney troubles that I suffered from for years was brought on by heavy lifting. I have lifted at times what ordinarily two men would be required to do. This straining myself often caused a dull aching and lameness in my back, and as time went on it got so bad that I had to wear the aching becoming much more severe until it became so bad at times that I could scarcely get around. A difficulty with the kidney secretions set in, they were scalding, irregular and annoying, especially at night, breaking my rest five or six times. I used various remedies, but got little relief from them. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and as they were highly recommended, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box at J. W. Gayle's drug store and they helped me from the start. I continued using them until I had taken two boxes. I was benefited in every way. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

COMMISSIONER'S SALES.

Master Commissioner W. H. Posey made the following among other sales, of real estate:

The James Gaines farm, in the Peak's Mill pike, containing 154 acres, was sold to Mr. F. P. Lewis at $70.25 per acre.

The Thomason farm of 100 acres was sold to Mr. Thos. Hockensmith for $2,002.

A farm of 80 acres on the Sulphur Lick branch was sold to Mr. W. G. Florian for $418.

TERRIFIC RACE WITH DEATH.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his feat in a race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and to-day I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

MAYOR WOODS.

Our quondam friend, Mr. Clarence E. Woods, was elected Mayor of Richmond, on Tuesday, without opposition. This is a deserved compliment to a clever gentleman. SERIOUS FIRE AT STAMPING GROUND.

About 2:30 o'clock, on Sunday morning, a fire was discovered in a restaurant, on Main street, in the little town of Stamping Ground, which, before it was extinguished, had consumed four large buildings and damaged several others.

A telephone message was sent to this city, asking that assistance be sent in the shape of our old steam fire engine. It was at once made ready and a train was pulled out for occupancy. Just, however, before it was about to start, news came that the fire was under control.

The buildings destroyed were the restaurant of Mr. Turner, the new bank building, the saloon of Coleman & McKeever, and a clothing and dry goods house. Several stores and dwellings were more or less damaged.

The total loss was about $15,000 or $17,000, with only partial insurance, some persons not having any at all.

It was the worst fire that Stamping Ground has experienced in many years, and looked like it would be even more serious than that was, but heroic efforts on the part of the people finally prevailed.

REVIVAL AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Notwithstanding the political excitement of the week the revival meeting at the Methodist Church has been progressing very satisfactorily.

There have been good crowds out, both at the afternoon and evening services, and great good has been done.

Rev. J. W. Harney, who has been doing the preaching, is a fine speaker and preaches with the old-fashioned Methodist vim and fervor. There have been quite a number of additions to the membership, and Pastor Vaughn is very much encouraged.

The meetings will continue next week, if not longer, both morning and evening, as usual. All the people are most affectionately and cordially invited to attend.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.

COL. GAINES WON.

In the suit of Elmer Townsend against Col. Noel Gaines, in the McCracken Circuit Court (in which Townsend sued Gaines for $10,000 for having him excluded from the Camp of National Guards, at Paducah), the case was decided, on Thursday, by the jury returning a verdict for the defendant, Col. Gaines.

FRANKFORT, NOV. 11, 1905

DEATH OF DEAR OLD BEN TOWSON.

The news was received in this city on Sunday that jolly, genial Ben Towson, of Lawrenceburg, had answered the last summons and had gone to attend the Grand Lodge on High.

Mr. Towson was some 83 years of age, and if there is a man, woman or child of the old time of the stage coach who did not know and love him, we know not who it could have been.

For forty years he drove the stage from this city to Lawrenceburg and Danville, and was as gentle as a woman to ladies and children and as full of jokes and humor with the men as any man who ever lived.

He was a devoted Mason and had been Steward and Tyler of Anderson Lodge from the time he left the road until forced, by the infirmities of age, to give up the position.

In every and all situations, even the most trying to patience and energy, he was a perfect gentleman, and though grave and dignified at times, the spirit of fun would break out in the most unlooked for moments, and his merriment was of such a spontaneous and hearty nature that it swept everything before it.

For many years he made his home at Danville, afterwards moving to Lawrenceburg.

There was a famous group that used to meet, each evening, in the storeroom of the late Mr. James M. Todd, to spin yarns and enjoy the social side of life. They consisted of Mr. James M. Todd, Capt. Atwell Rennie, Col. Lewis E. Harvie, Mr. John S. Harvie, Gen. Geo. B. Crittenden, Mr. Thomas Heffner, Col. Jas. W. Tate, Mr. John Baltzell and Mr. Sam'l R. Smith. Of this number Mr. Smith is the last this side of the great divide.

A wave of sadness waited over our city when the news came of his death.

The funeral services were conducted by his brethren of the Ma-

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

Save To Morphine From Doctor's Orders.

Habit Worse Than the Disease.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Cured Me.

When the nervous system has been shattered by the use of deadly drugs there is nothing to equal Dr. Miles' Nerve in restoring it to health and normal activity.

"I feel so grateful for what Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve has done for me that I must tell it for that part of humanity that suffer as I have during the three years I suffered from nervous prostration I found no relief except when doctors gave morphine. To get rid of suffering I took morphine myself as it was the only thing that would give ease, and now you, who point with scorn at morphine using, how could you, when in such agony, knowing it about the only thing that would give relief, resist it? I knew it was a terrible habit and I knew of its deadly grasp, but I never fully realized its significance until I had used it a number of months. Oh, the misery of being addicted to such a habit. I resolved then and there to quit it and resolved I would never be a slave to any such demon. About this time I happened to notice Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve advertised and ordered a bottle. After using five bottles I can truthfully say I am cured of using morphine. Now, however much persons may doubt it, God is my witness I am cured. This testimonial is unsolicited but I feel it my duty to give it for the benefit of the suffering."—MATTIE PHILLIPS, Prescott, Ark.

sonic fraternity on Monday last, and a large attendance evidenced the respect in which he was held.

We give a few illustrations of the man, which are so characteristic:

On one occasion there was a circus in town, and Towson was delayed in getting his stage out of Jas. M. Saffell's stable. He was chafing Saffell about it and then went into the harness room to attend to some repairs. While in the room Saffell locked him in and would not let him out until he agreed to set up the circus tickets. Finally Towson assented. He bided his time, however, and one day when Saffell had ordered a set of chairs from the prison, the bearer brought them to the stable just as Towson was driving off and said they were for Saffell. Towson told him to put them on top of the stage, and immediately drove off, taking the chair to his home at Lawrenceburg.

At one time he had the habit of stopping the stage at the Saffell distillery for a drink of the delightfully cool water always used there. Saffell would slip round and unhitch the traces of his horses, compelling Towson to get down off the stage to hitch them up again. One day he kept his eye on Saffell and as soon as he unhitched the traces Towson reached into the stage boot and commenced pelting Saffell with eggs and then paid him off.

A young farmer had been geyting Towson about something and had a good laugh at him. A few days after, Towson saw him ploughing about a quarter of a mile away as the stage was nearing Alton. He stopped and waived something he held in his hand at the young fellow, who (forgetting his past experience), dropped his plow lines and came running across the field to the fence. Towson waited until the young fellow mounted the fence when he whipped up his horses and drove away chuckling.

Mr. W. B. Showalter, engineer at Saffell's distillery, and Towson were always playing pranks upon each other. One day Showalter wanted to ride to town on the stage, as it was late. Towson stopped and told him all right. He waited until Showalter had almost gotten on the vehicle when he drove off leaving him standing in the pike.

MONDAY NIGHT'S SCRAP.

THE ELECTION.

The regular November election was held on Tuesday last. In this county the only opposition to the County Democratic ticket was that of Mr. Richard Morris, for Representative, who made a very creditable race.

In the city there was a hot fight for Mayor and Councilmen, waged by two tickets, the one headed by Dr. E. E. Hume, as the Democratic candidate for Mayor (with minor candidates behind him.) The other was the Fusion ticket and was headed by Mr. Kenner Taylor. The fight was a bitter one, and was kept up to the last minute.

The following is the vote:

EVERY OUNCE YOU EAT.

Every ounce of food you eat that fails to digest is a kind of harm. It turns the entire meal into poison. This not only deprives the blood of the necessary tissue-building material, but it is poisonous. Ke-dol Dyspepsia Cure is a perfect digestant. It digests the food regardless of the condition of the stomach. It allows that organ to rest and get strong again. Relieves Belching, Heart Burn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, etc. Sold by J. W. Gayle.

RETURNS TO HIS OWN.

We are rejoiced to know that Rev. R. L. McCready, the former brilliant and earnest rector of Ascension Church, in this city, has returned to Kentucky to reside permanently, and has accepted the charge of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, at Crescent Hill, and St. Luke's, at Anchorage. We congratulate these churches upon their good fortune and Kentucky upon Mr. McCready's determination to remain.

"THE HOLY CITY."

The cantata of "The Holy City" will be given at the Opera House, on Friday evening, November 24. It will be for the benefit of the King's Daughters Hospital, and the best of our superb musical talent will take part. No doubt it will be a success, both musically and financially.

A THEATRICAL EVENT.

"The Isle of Bong Bong," which is to be the special attraction at the Capital Theatre, Thursday, November 16, is rightfully classed among the few really brilliant successes in the field of light operatic entertainment. No musical production in recent years has attained such instantaneous popularity, or won so great a measure of critical approbation as was unanimously accorded this delightfully clever mixture of mirth and melody during its phenomenal run of over two hundred consecutive performances in Chicago.

Mr. B. C. Whitney, America's most indefatigable producing manager, has christened this his latest and greatest production. The Spikling Musical Surprise, and has given it the most elaborate in-vitruite and magnificent equipment of superb scenic and costume effects ever lavished upon a theatrical offering. The inimitable Gus Sobike has surpassed all former efforts in his marvellous arrangement and execution of complicated and original stage pictures, ensembles and encore numbers.

Messrs. Will M. Hough and Frank R. Adams stand sponsors for the book which has been amplified by Melville Boker, while Joseph E. Howard is responsible for the score. The lyrics treat of an odd theme of a strictly new and novel nature. The plot is consistent, and wistful is ludicrously amusing throughout the entire performance. The leading events follow each other in clearly defined sequence. An interesting love story is told, during the progress of which farcical complications arise in a perfectly legitimate manner.

The piece is freighted with a wealth of song successes of extraordinary merit, including which may be mentioned "Diplomacy," "My Uncle Sam," "If I Were The Man In The Moon," "I'm Lonesome For You," "Oh, The Dance, What's The Use," "Ask The Man," "The Revel Of The Brownies," and the captivating number, "Heap Love," a seductive Indian Serenade.

An all-star cast of exceptional merit has been provided, the entire strength of the company numbering over one hundred people. The leading comedy part is entrusted to John W. Ransome, who won international renown as the "Cincinnati Brewer" in the Prince of Pilsen. Alice Yorke is the prima donna. Others in the cast are Anna Boyd, Edith Depew, John Hendricks, Walter Ware, Clement Johnstone, Leonard B. Hoyt, Chas. R. Haigh and Charles Parcor.

SAVED BY DYNAMITE.

Sometimes a darning city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis, in a grippe. At all druggists, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Teacher.

The strategic point in any educational system is the teacher. We may have a good school in a wooded area without furniture and without apparatus. The Great Teacher taught on the mountain side. But a good school, even in a gilded palace, is an utter impossibility without a good teacher. The teacher for the most part makes the atmosphere of the school, and in a large measure, molds the public sentiment of the community. Next to the parent he has most to do with the formation of the habits of his pupils, and often he has even more to do than both parent and pastor, with the direction of their thoughts and the formation of their life ideals. Fortunately, indeed, is the student who finds during his whole school life one really great, wholesome, and inspiring teacher.

"One intelligent, live and enthusiastic teacher can revolutionize a whole country, and build a monument that will endure as long as appreciative minds and growing minds endure."—State Supt. O. B. Martin, of S. C.

One of the prime requisites of a good teacher is scholarship but all good scholars are not good teachers, any more than all good scholars are good preachers, good lawyers, or good business men. For all other professions and many business avocations, special preparation and practical training in the complex details of the work are required to insure success. This requirement is made of the teacher in all the leading educational States. In fact, Kentucky is the only State in the union, save one, that does not maintain a system of State Normal Schools for the professional training of her teachers. The other State which does not maintain such schools is Delaware; but Delaware, being a very small State, has an arrangement with the State Normal Schools of two adjoining States which enables her to give her teachers professional training. This leaves Kentucky decidedly in the rear in this important duty.

Illinois spends a quarter of a million dollars annually in maintaining her five State Normal Schools. Missouri has three of these institutions, but the State has not established two more, and appointed a committee to locate them.

All the other adjoining States have State Normal Schools. Why should Kentucky the richest and the best of all of them in natural resources, in men and women, in everything, be behind in educational facilities? We prognosticate that the crowning work of the next General Assembly will be the "Educational Legislation." The trend of public sentiment is decidedly in the direction of Normal Training Schools for our teachers.

The fourth State Development Convention, which was in session at the Galt House, Louisville, October 10, 11, 12, 1905, passed the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That in order to better fit the great mass of our public school teachers for the arduous duties imposed upon them, we recommend the extension of our common school system by the establishment of an efficient system of State Normal Schools; and we earnestly commend consideration of this subject to the next General Assembly."

The Kentucky Educational Association which was in session at Mammoth Cave, June 21, 22, 23, 1905, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That this Association commit itself unreservedly to the creation of a system of State Normal Schools and that we second in every way the efforts of the Educational Improvement Commission to secure three such schools by enactment of the next General Assembly."

Similar resolutions have been passed by the public school teachers in every county in Kentucky annually for the past two or three years. Over 8,000 teachers have placed themselves on record as in favor of this educational advance.

Many educated, progressive men have espoused the cause, and it is to be hoped that the whole people will become interested in the matter of professional training of public school teachers.

"The best school house, the best equipment and the best teacher is none too good for the past two or three years. Over 8,000 teachers have placed themselves on record as in favor of this educational advance. Many educated, progressive men have espoused the cause, and it is to be hoped that the whole people will become interested in the matter of professional training of public school teachers."

On this subject Francis W. Parker of the Chicago Normal School, and the greatest teacher of Pedagogy in his time, said:

"A professional training school for teachers is an impossibility without the essential means for training teachers, to wit, a practice school consisting of all the common grades. A school of chemistry without a laboratory, a medical school without a dissecting room, a manual training school without tools or material, are just as practicable as a normal school minus a school for practice. Knowledge and mental power are of the first importance; theory is indispensable to any professional work, but after all, the great art of teaching can only be acquired by teaching."

Kentucky ought to be satisfied with nothing but the best.

NEW WINTER RESORT, SEASONS 1905-1906.

The Beautiful Sapphire Country.

To the man whose imagination is fed with facts and fortified with observation, the southern portion of the United States will always seem the favorite child of omnipotence and its handmaiden—Nature. Practically every resource that ministers to the wealth and greatness of a people has been lavishly placed within its borders. Though the Creator of this full-bosomed magnificence dwells neither here nor there—but everywhere—we like, in all reverence, to call these Southern States indeed "God's country." One who knows the South realizes how after material gifts had been so generously bestowed, the designing power completed its work by dotting it liberally with those imperative auxiliaries of modern civilization—resorts, summer and winter. In the case of the South these resorts have proven not only protectors of our people's health, they are adding now and they will add substantially in the future to our actual wealth.

The Florida resorts need no detailed eulogy at this date. They have won already thousands of wealthy Northerners and Southerners from the lure of the European spa or the call of the Riviera. A more wonderful conquest, and one which shows the interest the entire South, is that of the radiant Sapphire country, that of Eden of the North Carolina mountains, with which the word "Toxaway" has become inseparably identified. Its beauties and its health-compelling qualities have been open to civilization for the last few years, relatively; yet "Toxaway" means to a host of Southern and Northern people to-day recreation and recuperation under conditions as ideal as can be arranged by the co-partnership of man and Nature.

The six hotels under the management of the Toxaway Hotel Company, with Mr. J. C. Burrows at its head, have been instrumental in this rapid achievement. The Toxaway country itself has done the rest. The hostelrys have been artfully located, getting the wide benefit which comes from altitudes ranging from 2,250 to 4,750 feet. The far-reaching estate of Toxaway comprises 31,000 acres, in which are more than seventy-five miles of brook and river fishing, yielding the gamut of game trout. In the rugged recesses of the estate are found wild turkey and ruffed grouse, with bear here and there and occasionally quail. The three lakes, like shimmering sapphires splashed down in the heart of the mountains, with the winding forest roads, create indelible impressions of the place.

With the opening of the winter season Toxaway Inn—the greatest of all the Toxaway resorts—announces itself ready for business for the approaching season after having completed the most successful summer season known in the history of southern resorts.

From this time on this institution becomes not only a summer but a winter resort, appealing to the South in the summer and to the North in winter. It is on the direct line of travel from eastern and western points to Florida, and Manager Burrows has made every arrangement to catch the business as it goes to and comes from Florida.

And it is safe to say that those who stop to take in the beauties of the Toxaway country will be amply compensated, for in the matter of scenic attractions there is nothing like it this side of the Rocky Mountains—Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12, 1905. 9-St.

STATE AID.

New Hampshire has taken a most remarkable step in the direction of a better system of public highways. A measure has been enacted into law appropriating no less a sum than three quarters of a million dollars for the permanent improvement of the main highways of the State. The money is to be raised at the rate of $125,000 a year for six years.

This amount will build a great many miles of macadam road, and will, no doubt, lead to still further construction in years to come.

It is what we will all have to come to, sooner or later. The State must do the general road-making. The cities and villages and even counties are too small units for so large a work. But State and towns in combination can accomplish a great deal and the burden will be lighter. New Hampshire, in reality, has only taken a place in the march of progress.
